The California Palms Salutes:

The Class of 1965

— Nothing is worth more than each day —

ON JUNE 9, 1965, forty-two young people will be graduated from the California School for the Deaf, Riverside. This date has long been anticipated with eagerness as well as reluctance by students, staff and parents.

One of the characteristics of a residential school for the deaf is that a large number of its pupils are in attendance from the primary or elementary grades through graduation. As a result of this long association, the entire staff on the school campus has a share and a vital interest in each child's development. Likewise, the pupils develop strong social and emotional ties with members of the school staff, but more importantly, with their fellow pupils. Consequently, when the members of the Class of 1965 participate in the graduating exercises on June 9, it will not be an entirely joyful occasion. They will be leaving pupil and staff friends; they will be leaving a place that has been a part time home; they will be leaving an environment of understanding and tolerance. A few of the graduates will go on to college where a situation such as this will continue to exist for them. However, the majority of graduates will have to face the facts of having to earn a living in competition with hearing people.

CSDR, like other schools, has tried to prepare its graduates for their independence. This preparation is a day by day growth of character, skills and knowledge supervised by teachers, counselors and all others who come into direct contact with the pupils. However, it is the responsibility of each pupil, supported by his parents, to take advantage of this opportunity to learn.

In addition to the above, each graduating class has had to assume special responsibilities. The Class of 1965 has been no exception to this practice. In the spring of 1963 this class was organized into a junior class in order to be in readiness for the following fall activities. Class officers were elected, sponsors were appointed and the two year program was outlined. Among the activities to be planned were the Junior-Senior prom, the yearbook, the senior outing, senior night and finally, graduation. Obtaining the finances to support all of this was also one of the class duties. They sold candy at recess to the junior high school and high school pupils; they kept trays of candy in the teachers' lounges; they sold concessions at Riverside City College football games; they sold refreshments during CSDR football games and during half time at the basketball games.

This two year flurry of pre-graduation activity in no way sidetracked the Class of 1965 from its usual pace of daily school work, extracurricular events, home going weekends and dating.

The class motto, "Nothing is worth more than each day," seems a truly appropriate one for this Class of 1965.

"Now Hear This . . ."

As the school year for 1964-65 draws to a close, my thoughts are focused on several items, past, present, and future.

In reference to the past, I am concerned over the lack of interest and support you, as parents, have shown towards your Parent, Teacher, Counselor Association. Your elective officers have presented a varied and informative schedule of programs for this school year to an almost empty auditorium. My question is: Why don't you attend these meetings? The P.T.C.A. is your organization and its purpose is to keep you informed of current educational information as well as developing a closer relationship between parents and the school staff working directly with your children. Without your support and interest, this organization is nothing and children who attend school here are the losers.

Contemplating the present is pleasant. Graduation time is approaching and there is excitement in the air. All sorts of plans are in progress. Those boys and girls preparing for graduation find concentrating on school work a little difficult. I imagine more thought is being given to the senior outing, a two day affair, or the senior prom, always a big event, or perhaps what they will be doing after they leave CSDR. Graduation is the end of one era and the beginning of another for them. Yes, this is an exciting time of the year.

The future is for things planned for now but have yet to happen. The Olympic games for the deaf takes place in July at Gallaudet College. We will have 16 students participating in the games this year. Some of them are students enrolled here at present while others are former graduates. Many of the staff will attend the Convention for American Instructors of the Deaf which is to be held in Flint, Michigan, while others will attend summer schools or travel to different parts of the world.

And so it is, another school year has come and gone and I must now prepare for the next one.

Signs in Everyday Life

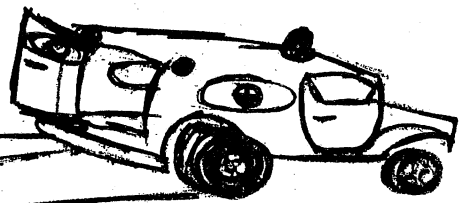

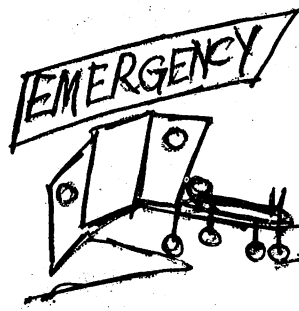

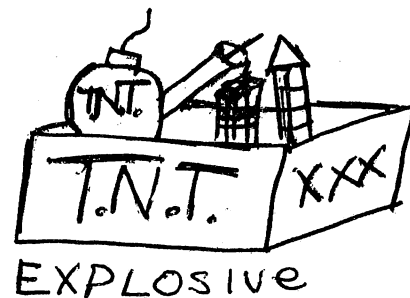

SIGNS have been used since Stone-Age men drew pictures on rocks. They were the first method of communication. From these crude notices, signs have progressed to our modern day dazzling neon signs and huge, colorful billboards. They are so much a part of our life that we probably do not notice many of them.

Signs may give directions, information, instructions or warnings. There are signs on buildings, in buildings, on highways and streets, in parks, on vehicles and then there are the small signs on bottles and cans that we call labels.

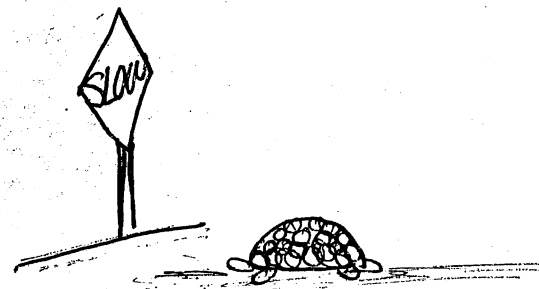

Signs are put up for a purpose. Some of them are for our own safety. Some are for the protection of public property or wild life. Some are helpful in that they tell us which way to go to get to a certain place, or what to do on a certain occasion.

If we don't obey some signs, we may be hurt, or someone else may be hurt. If we don't obey other signs, we may be breaking the law.

How I Made a New Friend

When I was a little girl, I was shy with other children. When I came to CSDR in 1959, I did not know any of the little children in my dormitory. I wanted to make a new friend, but I found it difficult. I watched the other children on the playground. I longed to play with them. I tried to talk to them. I wanted to ask them if I could play with them, but I was afraid that they did not want to play with me. When I went to bed at night, I felt lonesome. I did not like my new school because I had no friends.

One day when I was watching the children on the playground again I saw a girl playing jump rope. She looked lonesome, too. I decided to talk to her. I asked her if I could play with her. She smiled and gave me her rope. I found out that her name was Cynthia. Cynthia and I were good friends until she went to another school. After that it was easy to make more friends. I had solved my problem.

Slot Car Racing

One day I took my two slot racing cars to a hobby shop. One car was a red Ferrari model and the other car was a Ford GT. The Ford GT was rather fast, but the Ferrari was faster. I met Kenny Hoover in the hobby shop. We had a racing game. I won.

Another day I went to the hobby shop again. I put my red car on the slot car track and started it. My car did not move well and began to smoke. I found out that my motor was broken. I think another boy turned the voltage up too high for my car motor. It is a very good motor. Maybe I will fix it. The motor number is SP 600.

Sidewalk Surfing with Skateboards

I went over to Rocky Finley's house one afternoon. Rocky was sidewalk surfing. I saw Rocky's brother and asked him if I could play with his skateboard. I wanted to do some stunts on it. Rocky and I tried them. It was lots of fun. I can sit on the skateboard and also lie on my back. I can ride like a snake on the skateboard. I fell down a few times.

Rocky and his brothers each have a skateboard.

Sidewalk surfing can be dangerous. My sister, Brenda, likes it, too. We have fun with the skateboards.

The Elementary School Assembly

On February 19 Elementary School had an assembly program. It was called "Out of the Classroom Onto the Stage." The program was:

- I. Pledge to the Flag
"Star-Spangled Banner"
"America, the Beautiful"
"I'm a Yankee Doodle Dandy"
- II. Peter Rabbit
- III. Bar X Ranch in Texas
"Home on the Range"
"Pedro and Jose" (Sung in Spanish)
"She'll Be Coming Round the Mountain"
- IV. Winter
- V. Statue of Liberty
"America"

Our class and Class J sang songs. We practiced the songs.

Many parents and friends came to the program. All the lower school children came, too. We were glad that many people attended. We hope they enjoyed it.

Ice Skating

One day my aunt, two cousins, sister and I went to the ice rink. We were excited. Some of us had never before ice skated.

We bought our tickets. We put on our ice skates. Some of us found it was hard to walk on the rubber floor covering to the ice. We skated slowly on the ice. Some of us fell. We tried to improve with practice. We skated around on the ice for a long time. Then we went to the snack bar and bought something for lunch. After lunch we went to the ice and skated around again. My aunt and I skated faster than the others. I could turn around on the ice. I fell once. My pants got wet.

A man called, "Men and boys, leave the ice." He said the girls and women only could skate. After the girls skated, the boys went to skate. Then all the people began to skate. We skated around and around. We improved with practice. Then the lights went low. It was cool. All the people waltzed to the music. I watched the people skate and they skated wonderfully. The man said, "It is time to go home." We went to the locker room and we took off our ice skates. We went home. We had lots of fun at the ice rink.

I wish to buy new shoe ice skates and become a very good ice skater. I like ice skating very much.

Out of My Shell

Once upon a time I lived in a foreign country. I was a French girl. My address was 2738 Dellwood Drive, Paris, France. I came to America from France. When I came here, I was very shy. I lived in Seattle, Washington.

One day I went to an American school. The name of the school was Maryland School. My parents enrolled me in that school. I was very shy and I was afraid of American children. My teacher's name was Mrs. Stonesland. She was nice to me. I spoke French. I couldn't speak English because I had never studied it before. Mrs. Stonesland taught me English. After a while I understood a little bit.

I was shy when I tried to talk to the other children. I talked to one girl named Ginger. I thought she was a nice girl. She liked me very much and after school she walked home with me. My new address was 1231 Riverside Street. I was not shy anymore. I was happy because I had a new friend. Ginger played with me everyday. Sometimes she took me to the park on Saturday. I am glad that I came out of my shell.

Grandparents' Farm

A girl named Susie went to her grandparents' farm. Her grandmother and grandfather were happy to see her. Susie changed into her jeans and white blouse.

Grandmother made some cookies. When Susie smelled them, she said, "M-m-m, they smell good!" She ate sandwiches and cookies and drank milk for lunch.

Grandfather and Susie walked to the barn to look at two ponies, some hens, pigs, cows, sheep and a German shepherd dog. Susie was surprised to see some baby chickens. She wanted to play with them. She was happy.

When Susie went home, her grandmother and grandfather gave her some cookies and one baby chicken to take home with her.

The May Company

One Saturday Mother, Lasa and I went to the May Company in Buena Park. Mother bought pants and socks for my brother. Mother bought popcorn for Lisa and me. We took the escalator up to the second floor. I saw a pretty chandelier. It was big. I would like to go to the May Company store again.

Fruits From Near and Far

There are many different kinds of fruits. Some fruits grow on vines, some on trees and some on plants. Some fruits need to grow in a tropical climate; some need a warm climate and others need a mild climate. Fruits grow in countries all over the world. We import fruits and we export fruits.

Oranges grow on trees in groves in California, Florida and other states which have warm climates. The orange trees must be kept warm if it is cold. Men burn wood or oil in pots to keep the trees warm. Other citrus fruits are grapefruits, lemons, limes, tangerines and mandarins.

Bananas grow on banana plantations in Hawaii and other countries which have tropical climates. Banana plants must be kept wet and hot. Men pull the banana plants over with a rope. Then they can pick the banana stalk.

Apples grow on trees in orchards in many countries all over the world. Apples grow in many different climates. Men carry ladders to orchards. They climb the ladders. They pick the apples and put them in baskets.

Springtime

Spring is here. It comes in many different ways. Children run and play outdoors. The boys play baseball and the girls play dodgeball. Trees and grass begin to grow again. Pretty flowers bloom. Father plants a garden. Mother does the spring house cleaning. Lambs and colts are born. The days are warmer now. The sky is blue with many white clouds in it. Now we know it is spring.

A Birthday Party

Alfred had a birthday party. He was seven years old. Saturday afternoon seven children came to his party. They brought some presents. Alfred was surprised! All the children played a game. Father measured Alfred. He was three feet and three inches tall. Mother brought a pretty cake to the table. The children sat down. They liked the cake. Everybody had a good time. The children thanked Alfred's mother and went home.

My Dream

One night I dreamed that Charleen, Diane, Sara and I went to a picnic at the beach. We spread our blanket on the sand and put down our lunch basket. Charleen asked me if I wanted to go in the water. I said no because I thought there were too many big fish there. Charleen said I was silly. Then I agreed to go in the water. When I put my feet in the water, they stuck. I called Charleen, but she did not come. So I called Sarah, but she did not come either. Then I called Diane. She came. She asked me what was wrong. I told her that my feet were stuck. Diane pulled and pulled. At last she pulled my feet out of the water.

I asked Diane where Charleen and Sarah were. Diane showed me where they were. I looked, but I could not see them. Diane told me to put on her sunglasses. I put them on. Then I saw Charleen and Sarah playing London Bridge with other children. Diane and I ran over to them, but we were surprised because Charleen and Sarah were not with the other children. We asked the children where our friends were. They did not know who Charleen and Sarah were. Diane and I cried. When morning came, I woke up. I felt relieved because Charleen and Sarah were not lost. They were right there in the dormitory.

Leisure Time Events

A Field Trip to L.A. Times Co.

On April 14, the Type Lice Club members and members of the graphic arts department in high school with Mr. Lindholm and Mr. Fishler stepped into our school bus at 8:30 a.m. We first went to see the Los Angeles Museum. Then after partaking of our sack lunches we went to visit the Los Angeles Times. Mr. Fishler introduced Mr. Brightwell who is a deaf man working for the Times, and he was our guide. Mr. Brightwell explained to us how micro-film worked and was used in the "morgue" for keeping records. We also learned many things like matrix and the new Monarch (tape-operated tape setting machine). There are 145 trucks picking up and delivering the newspapers every day. It sends the papers to Southern California, New York, Las Vegas, and Riverside County. The plant prints about 870,000 newspapers a day and 1,444,000 Sunday editions.

After having toured there, we stopped on our way home for a snack in West Covina. We arrived back at school at 5 p.m. We had a wonderful trip and learned a lot during the day.

TITLE: Frankenstein

AUTHOR: Mary Shelley

As a young child, Dr. Frankenstein enjoyed the nature around him. As he grew into manhood he became fond of reading articles on biology. His father sent him to the University of Ingolstadt for his education. He had a very close friend, Clerval, who was also a nature lover.

Elizabeth, who was adopted by the Frankenstein family, caught scarlet fever and was nursed by Victor's mother. Elizabeth was saved, but the mother caught the fever and died in Elizabeth's arms. Victor became very depressed.

Later, at the University Victor met a professor who gave him much of his time and effort to teach him chemistry and a basic foundation in biology. Later Victor went higher in these studies. Then he decided to form life. But No!—he wanted to construct human life!

No one knew what he had in mind. He took bones from cemeteries and vital organs from other places. It took him about one year and a half. He succeeded in the project but was so shocked when he saw what he had made that he ran away from it.

Years later Victor married Elizabeth. On their wedding night Frankenstein killed her so that Victor couldn't have a wife. When Victor's father heard about this awful tragedy, he died of shock. Later the monster killed Clerval, Victor's only friend.

Victor chased the monster to the north of Russia and nearly died in the snow. A group of men found Victor and took him over the mountains to a ship. Victor rested there. Then the monster came and explained that he had made Victor's life miserable because Victor had made him and he didn't really want to live. Frankenstein said that he would die and his spirit would rest in peace, but that Victor would suffer from loneliness as the monster had because he had no one to turn to.

TITLE: Jenny Lind and Her Listening Cat

AUTHOR: Frances Cavanah

SETTING: Time: Between 1820-1887

Place: In Sweden

CHARACTERS: Jenny Lind Kisse Katt
Jenny's mom and dad

Synopsis:

The story tells about Jenny and how she became a world famous singer.

When Jenny was a little girl, she was very lonely because her mom was too busy to care for her and her pa wasn't at home often. One night her mom and pa said Jenny should live with some strangers. Jenny didn't like the idea.

The next day Jenny went to live with the strangers. Later she found a kitten that was lonely, too. Soon they found a happy life together. She called it "Kisse Katt."

Kisse Katt liked to listen to Jenny's songs. Also he brought her courage. One day she and Kisse Katt were on the porch. Jenny was singing. An important woman heard her and took her to a place to show a man that her voice was sweet.

Later Jenny grew prettier and her voice grew sweeter. One day Kisse Katt died of old age. On that special night Jenny "lost" her courage but she had to sing before many people. Somehow Kisse Katt was there and Jenny told him to wait. After Jenny sang she went to the place where Kisse Katt had been but he wasn't there! She began to wonder if God had sent Kisse Katt to her to bring back her courage so that she could become a world famous singer.

I like the book because I like to know how people became famous.

Some wild geese were flying south because red and gold leaves were on the maples and oaks and the wind that blew from the north was cold.

A bear made a big hole to sleep in all winter.

Vocational Palm

Homemaking Award

The Crisco Award to the outstanding student in Homemaking is given every year. The girl is selected on the basis of her work in all areas of homemaking as well as her attitude in class. The girl should work well in sewing and cooking; she should not waste class time; and she should have good work habits. Her work area should be neat and she should contribute to classroom discussions.

Some years it is difficult to find a girl to meet all these requirements. In 1963 no award was given because no girl had earned her award. This year it was difficult to select just one girl because many girls were very good. Five girls did outstanding work in their classes. These girls are Linda Craig, Irma Gonzales, Joan Popovich, Kathy Troncone and Wanda Witczak. The girl who was finally selected as best is Linda Craig. Linda's mother and father will be proud of her when she brings home the beautiful trophy.

Vocational Winners at State Fair

Two boys, one from Junior High School and one from High School, won awards at the California State Industrial Fair and Exhibit in Sacramento during April.

Bobby Ellis entered a double wood carving of a swan in a pool of water in the Industrial Crafts division. His entry won a Superior Award which gave him a $50.00 cash award. Jay Shopshire entered the eight color cover for the February California Palms language supplement in the Graphic Arts division. Jay had done the layout masking and other necessary work for this project. This entry also won a Superior Award and $50.00 in cash. Mr.

Peters was Bobby's teacher and Mr. Fishler was Jay's teacher.

Our congratulations go to both students and to their teachers for this fine work.

Parents and Friends Invited

Pachappa I

Mark Austin spent a day at the Date Festival at Indio. He enjoyed seeing many things.

The boys in Pachappa I are usually very healthy and are seldom absent. However, during the month of March many of them got the "bug." Among those who were absent were Jose Abenchuchan, Donald Caldwell, Dale Coons, Rex Drake, Mike Elkins, Mike Farnady, Mike Olivera, Randy Vaughan and John Contreras.

Pachappa II

One Saturday in March four girls from the Ticktockers came and took eight boys for a walk around the campus. It was very nice after the rain. The boys were Maurice Abenchuchan, Gerald Bragg, Chuckie Erickson, Steven Kelly, Kenny Lokey, David Price, Gordon Cook and Clarence Wiley. Later they had relay races on the patio.

The boys are enjoying the white rabbit that Mr. Newton brought to the dormitory for a pet.

Paul Delgrolice was out of school several weeks because of an operation.

Pachappa III

Carol Fry, Jeanette Epstein, and Diann Lagan were absent in March because of illness.

When Donna and Fay Pratt went home one weekend in March they brought back two pet turtles.

Paulette Sottak baked brownies for her class in school and also for all the girls in the dormitory.

Rubidoux I

Five boys had birthdays during the month of March. They were Walter Hammer, Brant Watt, John Williams, Steven Summer, and Richard Bremser.

Mark Sultan invited Bruce Gould to visit his home one weekend and Rodney McBrearty went home with Stephen Longo one weekend.

Mike Campos and Eddie Dudley had lots of fun at the Orange Show one weekend.

Rubidoux II

Linda Aguilar began going home on the bus on March 19, her tenth birthday. Two other girls had March birthdays. Germaine Pico had her eleventh, and Sylvia Loera her tenth.

Janet Tovar attended the ceremony at Vandenburg Air Force Base when her father retired from the Air Force. Janet's home is now in San Bernardino.

Winning teams in the bean bag tournament conducted by Mrs. Wells were composed of Rose Attwell, Maria Carillo, Kathy Dominique, Sylvia Loera, Estela Lugo, Alice Naranjo, Marjorie New, Cathy Ortega and Germaine Pico.

Eight girls went with their counselors to a travel movie at the Plaza on March 12. They were Germaine Pico, Debbie Campbell, Lorraine Gonzales, Cherri Allen, Pamela Amundsen, Cathy Ortega, Marjorie New and Sylvia Loera. Sylvia held the winning door prize number.

Rubidoux III

Many of our girls enjoyed visiting in the homes of their friends. Hazel Mosley went home with Everline Arrington and saw her cute puppy. Laura Escobar went to Sharon Ingenthron's and saw her new puppy. Gloria Estrada visited with Debra Royse from Rubidoux II again. Barbara Torres and Judy Blair had a ride on the Tramway in Palm Springs when Barbara visited Judy's home. Wanda Schuetz invited Jan Garey from Shasta IV to her home one weekend. When Chris Buchholz invited Barbara Torres to her home, they went to the Orange Show.

Sharon Ingenthron went to the Orange Show with her family one weekend. Daisy Slagle's family has moved to Corona. She also has a cute new puppy.

Shasta I

This month a few Shasta I girls have visited other girls who live close to the Orange show. Among those lucky ones were Sharon Russell who visited at the home of Margaret Rose; Laura Dinndorf at Judith Joiner's; Carole Williams at Janet Quane's; and Cheri Crawford at Patsy Carlsen's.

Monica Lane enjoyed a picnic at Irvine Park this weekend with friends. They went bicycling, horseback riding, played softball and then ended a perfect day by going boating.

Shasta III

Kathy Carlsen and her family drove to Granada Hills in San Fernando Valley to visit friends. While they were there, they decided to drive around and look at the beautiful homes. Imagine Kathy's surprise when she came back to school and found that Patty Burrell lived in that vicinity and that they had passed her house without knowing it.

Velia Thomas had a big surprise when she got home one weekend. Her older brother, who is stationed in Missouri, had written that he was married. Velia is anxious to meet her new sister-in-law.

Karen Thompson and her family went with her sister Pat and her fiance to Las Vegas for Pat's wedding. Karen enjoyed the wedding and was impressed by the flash and brilliance of Las Vegas.

Shasta IV

Our little Frances Cook was named Topanga Valentine for 1965 by the Topanga Outlook after a two-week contemplation of the many lovely teen-age girls in the Canyon. Congratulations, Frances!

Carol Delikta is recovering from an accident, having had several stitches taken in her right index finger.

Lassen I

The boys in Lassen I miss Kim Francis. He was transferred to another school. We all wish him a lot of good luck.

We are very proud of several of our boys. They have won prizes or received placement ribbons for their various vocational projects at the Indio Fair. Some of these boys were Fred Gravatt, John Wilson and Roy Cruz.

Manfred Krick has two pictures that he painted and framed hanging in his room. They make the room look very attractive.

Palomar I

Many of us enjoyed the movie, "The Silent Crisis," and the play, "Arsenic and Old Lace," and we are looking forward to the prom, awards night, our dormitory party, the senior outing and the big night of graduation.

Some of us are counting the days until school ends and others are thinking how sad it will be not to return to CSDR next year. The years have passed rapidly since we first started to school here and now the boys of the "Class of 65" would like to say good-bye and thanks to all of you who have done so much for us.

Palomar II

Palomar II had a mid-year treat. They went to "The Sir George" for dinner. The boys ate chicken, salads and vegetables. They walked down to the Plaza and back again. The man who owns the restaurant was very nice to them and asked them to all come back again because they were all so much like gentlemen. They were very proud to be accepted and treated so nicely by the manager and their special waitress.

George Sierra's father and mother came to take George and his friend, Franklin Johnson, to dinner at the Mission Inn. They had a wonderful time.

Palomar III

Ping pong paddles are getting polished and ready for a lively intradorm tournament. All of the students are participating. Contests will be held each week until school closes and a prize will go to the winner. We wonder who will be champion!

The members of the Student Council wish to thank their dorm-mates for their cooperation this year. Most of the boys have tried very hard to build a good reputation for their dorm. The students have shown more mature thinking. Palomar II should be proud to receive this group next fall.

SPORTS—

Gallaudet Sports Items

Of special interest to CSDR students are the following excerpts from the Gallaudet College sports brochure concerning track and field:

Ramborger, William, 5:9; 175

Athletic stardom seemed in the offing as Bill parlayed an eighty-yard run for a touchdown the first time he handled the pigskin as a collegian. But frequently pulled muscles persist in delaying Bill's niche as a broad-jumper, triple-jumper and javelin hurler. Will compete in his second IGD events.

Bill Ramborger, a fourth-place finisher in the Mason-Dixon Conference track and field championships during the 1963 championship meet and a hard-luck performer last year, has recovered sufficiently from a wrenched ankle. Bill should be a strong contender for top honors. He is probably the best all-around track and field man at Gallaudet in the last 30 years, with impressive performances in the javelin—183 plus, triple jump—43-11, high and intermediate hurdles, as well as the long jump.

Henes, Tom, 6:2; 175

Member of 1965 IGD track squad. Cross-country conditioning will help him improve on the 50.8 time that gained second place in the conference 440 dash finals. Ran on the underrated 440 and mile relay squads that shocked observers with impressive showings.

The past two or three seasons of half-miling have shown us that only a boy whose distance running background is more than adequate and who has good quarter-mile speed, preferably within the 50-51 second range, will reach the conference finals. Is Tom Henes, our surprise second-place winner in the 1964 440-yard championships, the man to do the job for us? At 6-2 and 175 and only a second-year man, Henes became a strong finisher at the season's end and was our seventh man in cross-country meets. A hard and dedicated worker, Tom wants so desperately to show us that he can elevate the Blues to the top five in conference half-mile racing.

Marsh, Charles, 5:10; 165

He and Emory are probably one of the most illustrious brother teams ever to appear in Kendall Green annals. As a fledgling last spring, he took second place in conference broad jumping honors. A current record holder in the college triple jump. Brighter than bright track and football futures already envisioned. On 1965 IGD track squad.

Charles Marsh is now in only his second year of competition. Marsh was one of the most improved members of the 1964 squad which was composed mostly of yearlings and sophomores. Starting out as an unknown quality, as were several others, Marsh's pre-season conditioning paid off handsomely when he had a final-meet effort of 22-even and 43-4 in the triple.
